

DDD Fact Sheet

Chris Christie, Governor * Kim Guadagno, Lt. Governor * Jennifer Velez, Commissioner * Dawn Apgar, Deputy Commissioner

The New Jersey Division of Developmental Disabilities (DDD) provides public funding for services and supports that assist people with developmental disabilities.

These services are offered in the community by more than 250 New Jersey agencies and in seven residential developmental centers.

There is no entitlement for services funded by DDD. However, the division strives to make the most effective use of its available funding so that it can serve as many people as possible.

DDD determines through an application process who is eligible* to receive services it funds. To receive services, you must meet the functional criteria and be Medicaid eligible. Functional criteria is based on having a severe, chronic physical and/or mental impairment that:

- manifests in the developmental years, before age 22
- is lifelong; and
- substantially limits you at least in three of the following life activities: self-care, learning, mobility, communication, self-direction, economic self sufficiency and the ability to live independently.

Some conditions that might be considered a developmental disability include intellectual disabilities, cerebral palsy, epilepsy, spina bifida, autism or a neurological impairment.

*The complete legal definition can be found at NJSA 30:6D-25(b) and NJAC 10:46.
